FEDERORAFI
Federazione Nazionale Orafi
Argentieri Gioiellieri Fabbricanti

The Italian jewellery industry shows the highest trade balance among the “Made in Italy” fashion sector. The three principal jewellery manufacturing districts in Italy, producing more than 85% of the sector’s exports, are located in the provinces of Vicenza, Arezzo and Alessandria, with other important production areas in Ancona/Macerata, Milan, Padua, Rome, Palermo, Torre del Greco/ Naples, and others. 85% of national production is exported worldwide.

The key strength of the Italian jewellery manufacturing system comes from its capacity to excel in the manufacturing of high, medium and low value-added products. The winning feature of the low value-added sector lies in the ability to constantly innovate both products and production processes, while the winning feature of the high-value-added sector comes from creativity and aesthetics, high quality standards and craftsmanship, cultural heritage and innovation.

The Italian jewellery industry international advantage is rooted in the natural evolution of a cultural, artistic and industrial path, enriched with strong values: from the Etruscans to Benvenuto Cellini, from the Renaissance workshops to the “contamination” of all the different populations that, over the centuries, invaded and inhabited our peninsular territory. Today, even the most technological Italian product conceals a secret aesthetic soul.

The Italian myths of the Bel Paese and La Dolce Vita are constantly reaffirmed and strengthened through the enhancement of the quality of life that Italian products and brands offer worldwide.

ADI Association for Industrial Design gives voice since 1956 to the ideas and the interests of industrial design in Italiy and abroad. The Association unites professionals, companies, distributors, researchers, historians, critics, media people, schools and publishers, acting as a propositive player with aim to connecting the specific knowledges of all groups. The Association set as its target the development of industrial design as a cultural and economic factor, capable of improving human life conditions in a responsible and dignified way.

ADI also organizes the Compasso d'Oro award, the most famous Italian design award, born in 1954 from an intuition of Gio Ponti supported by La Rinascente department stores. Since 1958 ADI has been responsible for the award, dedicating its energies over the years to its development as a quality selection. In this respect, ADI established in 1999 the Permanent Design Observatory: over 100 specialists from all sectors work continuously throughout Italy to select every year the best products, that are then presented to the public in exhibitions organized in Rome and Milan and through the ADI Design Index book.

Only the products selected for the ADI Design Index are admitted every two years to the Compasso d'Oro award competition, open since 2015 to designer and producer from all over the world.

Camera Nazionale della Moda Italiana

The The National Chamber for Italian Fashion (CNMI) is the no-profit Association which disciplines, co-ordinates and promotes the development of Italian Fashion, acting as a point of reference and preferential mouthpiece for all the national and international initiatives aimed at valuing and promoting Italian style, customs and Fashion.

From its foundation in 1958 the Association has aimed at the promotion of Fashion through a highly intellectual image in Italy and abroad. Sustainability is one of the pillars of this strategy and a basic value in the Italian fashion industry since 2010, confronting the challenge of rethinking our future by aiming at the highest standards of industrial, environmental and social sustainability and involving producers and other operators across the entire industry.

For Italy, the world's biggest luxury fashion producer, sustainability is a competitive lever to consolidate its leadership. CNMI set up a Working Group on Sustainability, a Sustainability Committee and technical working groups on Chemicals, Chemical Analysis and Retail, and launched in 2017 the Green Carpet Fashion Awards Italia (GCFAI), the "Oscars" of sustainable fashion, culminating in a ceremony at Milan's Teatro alla Scala. Now in its 4th year, this event brings top designers and luxury brands together with emerging designers, start-ups and innovative businesses in a grand celebration of sustainable fashion.

CNMI introduces at China International Import Expo three winners of the GCFAI "Franca Sozzani GCC Award for Best Emerging Designer": Tiziano Guardini, Gilberto Calzolari and Flavia La Rocca, alongside with designer Marco Rambaldi, underlining the support for the new generations and promotion of Made in Italy that forms another important pillar of CNMI strategy.

PITTI IMMAGINE

Pitti Immagine is an Italian company devoted to promoting the fashion industry worldwide. From the top down, its motivated staff fully believes in the concept of the modern trade fair as an event that is in a constant stage of renewal and development – indeed Pitti Immagine has recently expanded its scope to include other industries such as food and fragrance. According to Pitti Immagine the trade fair must create clear and stimulating relationships involving the exhibitors, their collections and the buyers and public, by offering information, and knowledge.

One of the most important events organized by Pitti Immagine is Pitti Immagine Uomo, the key global event dedicated to menswear and contemporary lifestyles which is held in Florence twice a year. A world that, at every edition, expresses the latest fashion trends through its unique style and projects. With its increasingly precise editing and mapping of its different identities, Pitti Immagine Uomo focuses on the sections that represent the most cutting-edge fashion research.

Not just an organizer of fairs and catwalk shows, but of regular cultural activities as well: this is why, in 2002, Pitti Immagine created the Fondazione Pitti Immagine Discovery, a place in Florence where attention could be focused on the most inspiring studies of contemporary languages. Neither a gallery, nor a museum or even a collection, it is an ongoing workshop which explores the ability of a company to affect a city and its cultural life with a precise objective in mind.
